CHILDREN HURLED TO LIFE NETS AT FIRE

Blaze Believed to Have Been Started by Incendiaries Cut Off Escape Through Hallways of Flat House and Gallant Work Was Done in the Rescue of the Inmates.

Michael O'Brien, a plasterer, of No. 1405 Park avenue, was passing Greenough, rf. the four-story flat-house at No. 2001 Third avenue a few minutes after 1 o'clock this afternoon when, glancing up to the third-story window, he saw a woman hugging a child to her breast. She leaned out and cried: "For God's sake, help me."

A moment later a great cloud of smoke rolled out of the window and the woman shrieked with fright. O'Brien dashed straight into the doorway of the adjoining building, No. 1999 Third avenue, followed by Fireman Webber, of Hook and Ladder No. 14, who was passing and heard the screams. The two men rushed to the third floor and into the apartment of James Doyle.

SHE WAS ABOUT TO LEAP.

O'Brien called to the woman, who was just about to leap with her child, to stop. He crawled across the narrow ledge between the houses. By this time smoke was pouring from all the windows of the house, and the cries of women and children marooned by the fire in their apartments resounded through the building.

O'Brien caught the child from the woman's arms and passed her to Fireman Webber. The Woman is Mrs. Bertha Eyi, and when the babe in arms was taken from her she rushed back into the room for her three other chil-

Meanwhile Roundsman Mills, of the East One Hundred and Folirth street station, had sent in an alarm, and the first relay of fire apparatus began to arrive. As the truck dashed up to the house Firemen Webber and O'Brien shouted for the life-nets.

DROPPED INTO LIFE-NET.

On the floor above Mrs. Eyl's apartment Mrs. Thomas Krebs and her four children-Rosy, eight years old; Terry, six years; Tessy, four, and Winie, eight months old-had been driven to the front windows by the The rear of the house was a roaring furnace.

The fire was too near to wait for the firemen who were coming up the ladder, so Galvin took the children and dropped them into the life nets one by one.

As the children tumbied through the air the mother fainted. Galvin picked up the falling woman and, throwing her over his shoulder, got out upon the ladder and started down just as the flames burst out above his head In falling two of the Krebs children struck upon cornices of the lower floors and were seriously hurt. All were taken to Bellevue Hospital.

SAW GIRL THROUGH SMOKE.

As the flames shot out of the windows of the Krebs flat the great crowd through the curling black smoke pouring from the windows of the Evi apartment could be seen the white face of a little girl.

Capt. McManus, of Engine Company 14, was one of the first to see the Forces Resignation of Holder of child. The ladder to the fourth floor had been taken down, so McManus dashed up the stairway of the adjoining house, swung himself from the ledge of the Doyle apartment and climbed in the window. He managed to drop to the broad ledge of the second floor apartment and then with the child in his arms leaped to the ground. His heroic rescue was greeted with
